

NAVIGATING BUSINESS RESILIENCE

AND THE FUTURE OF FUND MANAGEMENT

22 APRIL 2024

9.00AM - 5.15PM

CONFERENCE HALL 2, SECURITIES COMMISSION MALAYSIA

FACE-TO-FACE

PROGRAMME OVERVIEW

In the contemporary tapestry of the global financial ecosystem, fund management companies find themselves navigating technological advancements and an evolving risk panorama highlighting the critical interplay between compliance and resilience. In today's world, these twin imperatives are not only integral components of sound corporate governance but also fundamental pillars supporting the sustainable success and credibility of fund management companies.

The Securities Commission Malaysia (SC) through the Guidelines on Compliance Function for Fund Management Companies to establish controls and compliance, ensuring investor protection and market confidence. Additionally, the Guidance Note on Managing ESG Risks for Fund Management Companies which was issued on 30 June 2022, aims to assist the fund management companies in establishing a responsible investment framework. It provides clarity and outlines the regulator's expectations regarding the development and implementation of practices, policies and procedures towards effective analysis and management of material ESG risks and risk-related considerations. Furthermore, it facilitates meaningful disclosures to investors while driving positive impact and change.

Furthermore, recent global events have demonstrated the need for robust business continuity plans. Whether facing a global pandemic, natural disasters, or market volatility, fund management companies must be equipped to weather unforeseen storms. Resilience measures not only provide a shield against disruptions but also position companies to emerge stronger from adversity.

This programme explores the symbiotic relationship between compliance and resilience, highlighting their interconnected nature. It extends beyond fulfilling legal obligations, focusing on strategically mitigating risks to foster a culture of resilience within fund management entities.

PROGRAMME OBJECTIVE

This programme will equip participants with the knowledge and tools needed to thrive in an environment where adaptability, ethical conduct, and operational stability are paramount.
